101 WARREN STREET Manhattan, NY

FSG was called into this project to investigate an ongoing intermittent loss of power to the building. With several underground con-ed feeders serving several addresses at this location FSG was to identify the cause and engineer corrective measures, all while maintaining building power using temporary generation so as to not disrupt the tenants. FSG responded to a report of one feeder blowing up and causing a fire, and stay on the job through completion to ensure full building functionality. FSG was proud to be part of the emergency response, design and ultimate permanent fix for the members of this community.
